North-east Station,
Nashville, Tennessee.

Dear Brother Staines:

Several days ago I received your interesting letter of October 8. I am always glad to hear from you. I think I shall be at your place in eight or ten days. Then we can discuss many matters of interest.

Meanwhile, I will request that you do not send out any copies of my letters or portions of my letters. The reasons for this will be discussed by us when I reach Nashville.

With best wishes for your health, and for the prosperity of the work in which you are engaged, I am,

Yours very truly,

W. C. White.
